Reviews

This written publication is fantastic. I am quite late in start reading this one, but better then never. You will not feel monotony at any time of your respective time (that's what catalogues are for concerning should you ask me).

RareBooksClub. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 102 pages. Dimensions: 9.7in. x 7.4in. x 0.2in. This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text. Purchasers can download a free scanned copy of the original book (without typos) from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1885 Excerpt: . . . same as before. In ten minutes I have polished prisms of rock salt in this manner that have not only shown the D line double, but Prof. Langley has informed me that his assistant, Mr. Keeler (J. E.), has seen the nickel line clearly between the D lines, as well as every line that can be seen by the use of a good flint glass prism, although the dispersion is not so great. This speaks for the superiority of the surfaces over those polished on broadcloth. In polishing prisms I prefer to work them on top of the polisher as they can be easily held, but as it is difficult to hold lenses or planes in this way, without injuring the surfaces, I usually support them in a block of soft wood, turned so as to touch only at their edges, and work the polisher over them. Though it takes considerable practice to succeed at first, the results are so good, that it well repays the few hours work it requires to master the few difficulties it presents. EDITORIAL NOTES. There are still in hand a few more copies of Galles Catalogue of Comets from 1860 to 1884 as translated from the German, by W. C. Winlock. Single copies fifty cents. A scholarly mathematician and computer highly appreciates the articles of Mr. S. J. Corrigan on the computation of meteor orbits. A prominent English astronomer also gives him a handsome compliment.
